DOCTOR B. FENDALL.

Regular bred Surgeon-Dentist, AND who has been in practice for near thirty years, has just arrived in Alexandria, and may be seen and consulted at Brett's, across, at any time during his continuance in it. The earlier applications are made to the Doctor by those who feel disposed to employ him as a Dentist the better, as his continuance in Alexandria is very uncertain. Those ladies and gentlemen, in Alexandria, who find it inconvenient to wait on the Doctor, he will readily attend, on the shortest notice.

Dr. Fendall cures the scurvy in the gums, be it ever so inveterate, in a short time, twenty four hours at farthest; restores loose teeth by making the gums grow up to them, restores the teeth white and beautiful; prevents that decay, keeps such as are so from becoming worse, even in old age; fills up those that are hollow with gold, with foil or with which will not only render them useful for years, but their scaling and further decay; extracts teeth and stumps with ease; makes and repairs artificial teeth. His Columbian Anodyne, is a specific for preserving the teeth, and is a safe and superior belief in all cases of toothache and efficacy to any other medicine by the Doctor.

March 5

Congress of the United States.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, April 23.

On motion of Mr. Johnson the committee of claims were discharged from the further consideration of the petition of P. C.
L'Enfant, and it was referred to a select committee.

COMMERCIAL INTERCOURSE.

The house again resolved itself into a committee of the whole, Mr. Deha in the chair, on the bill concerning commercial intercourse between the United States and Great Britain and France and their dependencies, and for other purposes.

Mr. Gholson's proposition to amend the bill by inserting into it a system of total non-importation from Great Britain & France was under consideration when the house last deliberated on this bill.

Mr. Johnson stated to the house an amendment which he had in view to make and which he should offer when the amendment of Mr. Gholson should be decided upon.

Mr. Gholson said he felt satisfied that the system which he had proposed was the best, but seeing a decided opposition to it, and with a view to accommodate his friends with an opportunity of moving amendments he withdrew his motion, reserving to himself the right of urging it again if the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Kentucky should not be agreed to.

Mr. Johnson then moved to strike out the first section of the bill and insert the following sections as an amendment to the bill:

"And be it further enacted, That the two first sections of the act entitled "An act to interdict the commercial intercourse between the United States and Great Britain and France and their dependencies, and for other purposes," be and the same are hereby revived, and shall from the passage of this act have full force and effect.

"And be it further enacted, That from and after the passage of this act, an addition of fifty per centum shall be made to the duties now imposed by law on the importation of goods, wares and merchandise the growth, produce or manufacture of any of the dominions, colonies or dependencies of either Great Britain or France, or imported from any of the said dominions, colonies or dependencies; which additional duties shall be levied and collected in the same manner and under the same regulations and allowance, as to drawbacks, mode of security and time of payment respectively, as are already prescribed by law, in relation to the duties now in force on the importation of goods, wares and merchandize."

Mr. Randolph observed that when the house were last in committee on this bill, the committee had risen to give time for consideration of an amendment proposed by the gentleman from Virginia, Mr. Gholson. That amendment was now withdrawn, and another substituted, which he for one could not understand. As he really believed, he said, that if the house meant to spend unprofitably the remainder of the session, they could hit on no mode more apt than in continuing in committee on this subject, he moved that the committee may rise.

Messrs. Johnson and Gholson opposed the motion which was lost, 58 to 36.

Mr. Randolph questioned whether Mr.
Gholson had a right, after his amendment had been ordered to be printed and thus acted on by the house, to withdraw it; but the chairman overruled the objection.

Mr. Garland again moved that the committee rise.

This motion was supported by himself and Mr. Milnor, on the ground that the additional duty proposed was such as would destroy all the fair trade of the country; that it was impossible to distinguish between British and French and other foreign fabrics; that the very object of revenue would be defeated by smuggling and by the diminution of importations. The amendment they said was of great importance, and they could not completely understand it.

The motion for the committee to rise was negative, ayes 34.

Mr. Pitkin spoke against the amendment.

Mr. Seybert spoke in support of it.

Mr. Livermore, Mr. Mumford and Mr.
Key spoke against it.

A division of the question was called for so as to take the question first on striking out the first section of the bill.

Mr. Bacon rose to say that he should vote against striking out the section, though not entirely in favor of the amendment proposed, because he believed that it would be equally applicable to the bill if the section was retained as if it was struck out.

The question on striking out the first section was negative, 52 to 43.

Mr. Johnson then moved to amend the bill by adding the sections he had moved before.

Mr. Johnson explained the objects of the amendment.

Mr. Sheffield opposed it at considerable length.

Mr. Bayd spoke in reply.

Messrs. Dana & Livermore spoke against the amendment.

And a division of the question being called for, the first section proposed as an amendment (going to continue the exclusion of foreign armed vessels from our waters) was agreed to by the committee—Ayes 53.

Mr. Van Horn moved to strike out of the second section proposed the words "as to allowance of drawback." He said he had no idea after the people had been taxed nearly double of the present duties, of admitting foreign goods to be re-exported after a payment of only three and an half per cent. duty. It would be a premium to foreign manufactures over our own.

The motion was lost, Ayes 14.

The second section was then agreed to—Ayes 59.

Mr. Bacon moved to amend the first section of the bill (which repeals the third section of the present non-intercourse law) by striking out the words "the third section of the."

This motion was objected to by Mr. Pit-kin on the ground of the alleged absurdity of repealing a law, and at the same time reenacting the two first sections and subjecting the whole to revival on the proclamation of the President.

Mr. Bacon defended his motion, and showed the necessity of giving a power to the president to revive the non-intercourse system in relation to the belligerents not revoking its edicts—a necessity resulting from laws passed by Congress, requiring the president to make certain offers to the belligerents; which, if agreed to, could not be carried into effect unless this provision was agreed to.

Mr. Pitkin replied that with respect to any overture made to either belligerent, or as to any treaty in contemplation, the house had no knowledge; the president not having given them such information. He was opposed entirely to giving power to the president to revive a law.

Mr. Livermore said as the proposed amendment went to the total repeal of the non-intercourse, distinct from any condition annexed to it, he was in favor of the amendment.

The amendment was agreed to—Ayes 61.

Other verbal amendments having been agreed to, the committee rose and reported the bill as amended.

Mr. Milnor moved to adjourn—Ayes 43, Noes 51.

Mr. Quincy moved that the bill lie on the table for the purpose of having it printed.

This motion was supported by Messrs.
Van Horn, Key, Quincy and Livermore, on the grounds that they could not understand the amendments; that this precipitation of business was undignified and dangerous; and they claimed as a right to have the bill printed for inspection before they decided on it.

Messrs. Gholson and Johnson opposed it.
They said they felt every disposition to accommodate gentlemen in their wishes; but the house acted under imperious circumstances, for if the passage of the bill was delayed beyond to-morrow, it was impossible that the Senate should act on it before the time fixed for adjournment. They appealed to their friends, under these circumstances, not to consent to delay.

ly, Whitehill, Winn, Witherspoon—39.

The House then proceeded to consider the amendments made in committee of the whole.

The question was taken on the first section of the amendment, and carried without a division.

Mr. Van Horn renewed the motion he had made in committee, to strike out the words, "as to allowance of drawback."

This motion was supported by himself and Mr. Lyon, and negatived—Ayes 23.

The question was then taken on the second section of the amendment imposing the additional, discriminating duty, and carried as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. W. Alston, Anderson,
Bacon, Bard, Bassett, Boyd, J. Brown, Burwell, Butler, Calhoun, Clifton, Cobb, Cox, Crawford, Cutts, Dawson, Desha, Fisk, Franklin, Gardner, Gholson, Good-

NAYS—Messrs. Bibb, Cobb, Cobb, Cochran, Garland, Haven, Kennedy, Key, Lewis, Marion, Milnor, T. Moore, Mosley, Mumford, Pickman, Pitkin, Potter, Sheffield, Stanford, Van Horn, Whitman, Wilson—22.

An amendment authorizing a suspension of the restrictions to the nation revoking its unlawful edicts, was concurred in without opposition.

Mr. Mumford said that he was opposed to the amendments. "They would, however, be useless indeed if there was no commerce on which the duty would operate; and this he feared would be the case soon, unless some measure was adopted, for at one fell swoop 25 sail had been taken within sixty days past and near St. Se-bastians—Without further preamble he moved the following section as an amendment, to which, if agreed to, he would add the details necessary to carry it into effect:

"And be it further enacted, That the merchant vessels of the U. States owned wholly by a citizen or citizens thereof, laden wholly with the articles of the growth or manufacture of the U. S. not having on board articles contraband of war, and bound to any port or place not actually invested, with which intercourse shall be prohibited by the decrees or orders of the government of any power whatever shall be entitled to protection by convoy."

Mr. Marion asked for information whether this swoop was made on the merchantmen at sea or in port. If in port, he said he should be glad if the gentleman would inform him whether, if they had been convoyed, they would have escaped seizure? If, after being convoyed to a port, they were not safe, it would be a great reason against going to the expense of convoying.

Mr. Mumford replied that the greatest part of these vessels had been taken entering the harbor of St. Sebastians, some by boats, some by privateers—some were taken possession of immediately after their arrival. Had they been convoyed, so that the nature of the property could have been ascertained with certainty, he believed they would not have been seized.

Mr. Fish regretted that he could not vote for the proposition because it was too indefinite; because it would be merely nominal, as, if our navy was increased four fold, it could not be competent to the object; because he did not wish to embarrass the bill by any distinct propositions nor to add any which would defeat the bill; because, if at this late hour of the session it was determined to employ arms to enforce our rights on the ocean, he wished it to be done in a more serious manner than that proposed.

Mr. Dana, adhering to a distinction made in some late admiralty decisions between vessels sailing under convoy and under protection, because in the former case the merchant vessels were compellable to sail under the direction of the armed vessel, and in the latter case had their option how-far they would proceed under protection, suggested to the gentleman the propriety of modifying his motion so as to read "any be protected by the public armed vessels of the U. S. against unlawful searches or seizures."

Mr. Mumford declined varying his motion.

Mr. Gholson was desirous of postponing the amendment, but could not get at his object.

Mr. Pickman said he could not have desired this himself, if it was in our power to protect our commerce against the illegal acts of any nation; but it would be idle to attempt to convey our trade against the thousand ships Britain has in commission, as to convey them to France with view to resisting illegal seizure and detention by that power in her own ports.

Mr. Dana objected to the amendment because of the vagueness of the terms in which it was couched. It authorized the convey of trade, without specifying whether on land or water. Whatever might be the case with these smaller vessels called gun-boats, he said it was not usual for the frigates to undertake to travel by land.

The amendment was negatived—Yeas 18, Nays 73.

Those who voted for the amendment are Messrs. Anderson, Bassett, Burwell, Calhoun, Clay, Clopton, Garland, Gholson, Howard, Montgomery, T. Moore, Mumford, Newton, J. Porter, Rhea of Tenn, Root, Thomson and Whitman.

Mr. Loomore wished to make a motion that the bill should not take effect nor be in force till the day of next.

The Speaker informed Mr. L. that it was not in order, as the house had agreed to a section which contained within itself a provision that it should go into operation from and after the passage of this act.

Mr. Loomore then moved the following as an amendment to the bill, arguing at great length in support of his opinion that the proclamation of the president was illegal.

Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed to allow the recovery of any penalty or forfeiture by reason of the proclamation of the President of the United States bearing date the 9th of August, 1809, or the corresponding instructions issued under the direction of the president, by the secretary of the treasury of the same date as communicated to congress with the message of the president at the commencement of the present session.

The question was taken on Mr. Livermore's motion, and negatived—Ayes 27, Nays 62.

Those who voted in the affirmative are—Messrs. Breckenridge, Campbell, Champion, Dana, Davenport, Ely, Emory, Gold, Hale, Haven, R. Jackson, Jenkins, Knickerbacker, Livermore, Lyon, Matthews, M. B. Pease, Pearson, Quincy, Stephenson, Stanford, Taggart, Tallmadge, Upham, Van Rensselaer, Wheaton, Whitman.

Mr. Lyon moved that the bill as amended be printed.

This motion being out of order while the question of engrossing was pending—

A motion was again made to lay it on the table, which was supported by gentlemen who declared themselves utterly unable to understand it.

The motion was negatived—Yeas 21, Nays 60.

The reading of the bill as amended was called for; but it was said that the bill had been sent to the clerk's office to be engrossed.

It was said by several members, amongst whom were Messrs. Quincy, Dana, Wheaton and others, that it was inadmissible to engross a bill before an order had passed the house for that purpose.

Mr. Fisk reminded gentlemen of the bill for the relief of Mrs. Hamilton, in retaliation to which that course had been pursued, for the bill had been engrossed, perhaps by desire of gentlemen who now objected to this course, before an order had passed the house for that purpose.

Mr. Quincy insisted on the immediate reading of the bill, as a right he possessed as a member of the house. Objection was made to the reading on the ground that it was only intended to embarrass and delay the proceedings of the house.

This objection was, however, withdrawn and the bill with the amendments read.

Mr. Potter moved to amend the amendment made to the bill by striking out fifty per cent. and inserting twenty.

This motion was declared out of order, as it went to strike out a part of an amendment already agreed to.

The question was then put "Shall the bill be engrossed and read a third time?" And carried as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. W. Alston, Anderson, Bard, Bacon, Bassett, Boyd, J. Brown, Burwell, Butler, Calhoun, Clay, Clopton, Cobb, Cochran, Cox, Crawford, Cutts, Dawson, Desha, Fisk, Franklin, Gannett, Gardner, Gholson, Goodwyn, Holland, Howard, Huff, Johnson, Love, Lyle, McKee, Montgomery, N. B. Moore, Morrow, Mumfords, Nelson, Nicholson, J. Porter, R. of Penn, Rhea of Tenn, Richards, Roane, Root, Sage, Sammons, Seaver, Seybert, Shaw, Smelt, Smith, C. Smith, Southard, Taylor, Tracy, Turner, Weakley, Whitehill, Winn, Witherspoon—60

NAYS—Messrs. Bibb, Breckenridge, Garland, Haven, Holmes, Kennedy, Marion, Pickman, P. K. Potter, Quincy, Sheffield, S. Smith, Stanford, Swoope, Wheaton, Whitman, Wilson—19

And the bill was ordered to be read a third time to-morrow, by a small majority, in preference to to-day.

The house then adjourned at ten o'clock after a fatiguing session of twelve hours.

During the session various questions were on points of order and on the construction of different provisions of the bill, which were discussed in so desultory a manner as to preclude a detail of them.

Extract of a letter from a person on board the Edw. of this port, dated Bremen, a small town 15 leagues west of St. Sebastians, 16th Jan. 1810.

"While in the act of entering the port of St. Sebastians, being three leagues distant, we were boarded by a Spanish launch, containing 80 men, who were supposed to be pilots. We readily admitted them on board, but immediately afterwards three others, then made out from under the land and howled us with 90 additional men, took possession of the vessel and brought her into port—where, with 2 others from New-York, we are now under the protection of 50 French soldiers, despatched from Bilbao, by order of the General commanding the province of Biscay. I myself am a prisoner to the town, but have applied for my personal enlargement, which I hope soon to be granted. The vessel and cargo are sequestered by orders of the Emperor and King.

Massachusetts Senate.—We are satisfied, from the returns of votes that at the commencement of the ensuing session, the senate will be composed of twenty federal, and nineteen democratic senators.—The vacancy is in Bristol district; where, we lament to state, the scattered federal votes in one town would have elected the other Federal candidate. We anticipate there will be some difficulty in organizing the senate; and until it is organized the business of the state cannot proceed, nor can the votes for governor, &c. be opened or counted. This will only happen should the house be democratic; and the vacancy in the senate should be filled by the democratic candidate. In that event the senate will be equally divided, 20 to 20. The party then which permits one of its members to take the chair, will become the minority; as the president cannot vote unless when the senate is equally divided. If the house should be federal, and the federal candidate in Bristol elected, there will be no difficulty in the organization, as the senate then, exclusive of the president, will be 20 federal to 19 democrat.

AN ACT

To amend an act, entitled "An act for the paving of Washington and other streets and for other purposes."

[Passed the 17th day of Feb. 1810.]

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Common Council of Alexandria in Council assembled, That the police officer shall not commence paving the side ways of Washington street until he shall be informed by the collector that the several proprietors of property on Washington between Queen and Oronoko streets, have paid into his hands the several sums of money levied on them by the police officer, and collected as in the said act directed, or otherwise secured the same to the satisfaction of the contractor, to carry the same into effect.

Sec. 2. Be it further enacted, That so much of the first section of the act to which this is an amendment, as comes within the purview of this act, and also the second section of the said act be and the same is hereby repealed.

Passed in Common Council April 14, 1810.

EDM. I. LEE,
President of Common Council.
Examined and approved, this 21st day of April, 1810.

Congress of the United States.

SATURDAY, April 24.

[Prayer for the Absent Members.]

[No question was taken on the bank charter bill, but evening Messrs. Key and Thompson spoke against the amendment and in favor of the bill, which the house, at an early hour, adjourned.]

Leave of absence was asked and obtained for Messrs. Knickerbocker and Haven, from Monday next to the end of the session.

A bill from the Senate, to amend an act for the relief of persons imprisoned for debt, was read twice and referred to a committee of the whole on Wednesday next.

The bature bill was again returned from the Senate, with a vote of adherence to their amendments.

On motion of Mr. Polk, after the consideration of the amendments was postponed indefinitely. [Here ends the bature business; after debating on the subject, more or less every week for five months past, it is now left in the same situation it was found.]

On motion of Mr. Taylor, the house resumed the unfinished business of yesterday—the consideration of the bill to continue the Charter of the bank of the United States, Mr. Swoope's amendment still before the house.

Mr. Love made a long and tedious speech against the bill and concluded by moving an indefinite postponement.

Mr. Gold made a few very sensible and pertinent observations in favor of the bill, and in reply to Mr. Love.

Mr. Boyd spoke against the bill and in favor of the postponement.

The question on postponement was taken by yeas and nays, and lost—Ayes 46, nays 67.

The question on Mr. Troup's amendment was then taken and lost, 41 to 62.

Mr. Love, in order to retard the passage of the bill, offered another amendment.—The question on this amendment was lost—Ayes 34—Nays 73.

Mr. Troup moved to strike out that part of the bill which requires the directors of the bank to pay a sum of money to the U. S. as a consideration for the renewal of their charter. He contended that this was in the nature of a bribe and that it would not be accepted without the imputation of corruption on the members of the house. The question on the motion was taken by yeas and nays and lost; yeas 35, nays 75.

Mr. Taylor moved to add the word five, so as to extend the charter of the bank 25 years, instead of 20 as contemplated in the bill.

Before the question was taken on this amendment the house adjourned.

FOR SALE,

A valuable new MERCHANT MILL, in complete repair, with two pair of French burrs for wheat and one pair of Allegheny stones for corn. There is machinery of every description for conveying the wheat from the waggon and from the packing shed a very small portion of manual labor. It may be tended with less than half the labor in common mills. It is situated on the main turnpike road leading from Ashby's Gap to Alexandria, on a good stream of water as any in the parts. It is capable of making 30 barrels of flour every twenty four hours; it is also expected the new paved road will come directly by it, which will make the carriage of flour to Alexandria short, cheap and easy.

Any person wishing to purchase will do well to make immediate application, as possession will be given the first of July. It is presumed that any person wishing to purchase would want to see the premises, where the terms will be made known by Public Sale.

Pursuant to an order of the county court of Fairfax, will be sold, at public sale, on the premises, on Tuesday, the 24th of April next, at eleven o'clock, in the forenoon, if fair; if not, on the next fair day, at the same time and place, for the purposes in the said order mentioned—

ABOUT sixty acres of LAND, part of the tract belonging to the late Roger West, Esq. and known by the name of West Grove. The land proposed for sale, lies on the south side of Great Hunting Creek, and contiguous to the Hunting Creek Bridge. Its vicinity to the bridge and to the road leading from the bridge, added to the facility of communication with the town, renders it an object of attention to such as are disposed to purchase land in the neighborhood of Alexandria.

It will be laid off in lots to suit purchasers, and sold on a credit of two, four, six months for negotiable notes with an approved endorser. A lien on the land will be retained until payment of the purchase money.

The above land will be sold at private sale at any time before the 24th day of April next, upon application to either of the subscribers, who are authorized to receive proposals for the same.

By GEORGE WATTESTON, Esq. Of WASHINGTON CITY, Author of the Lawyer and Child of Feeling.

The celebrity of this author's "LAWYER," and "CHILD OF FEELING" in the United States, has engaged in this work, and without detracting from the merits of the former, feel themselves justified in stating that his GLENCARN is superior to either. It is submitted without further recommendation, with a wish, that the American readers may give further encouragement to this young gentleman's endeavors to entertain, instruct and moralize his fellow citizens, in a way seemingly well calculated to attract their attention.

Feb. 6.

VIRGINIA.

At a Superior Court of Chancery holden in Richmond, the 28th day of Feb. 1810:

John Smith, plaintiff, against

Elisha Janney, Jacob Janney, Philip Care, Bernard Hope, junior, Philip Slaughter, and Fleming Bates, defendants.

AND

Jacob Weaver, plaintiff,

against

Elisha Janney, Bernard Hope, junior, and Philip Care, defendants.

On motion of the defendant,

Elisha Janney, by counsel, the court doth appoint RICHARD M. SCOTT, receiver of the monies, debts and effects of the said defendant Elisha Janney, attached in the hands of the other defendants, upon the said Richard M. Scott's entering into bond, with security, in the penalty of four thousand dollars, with condition that the said monies, debts and effects, which may come into his hands in virtue of this order, shall be forthcoming, and subject to the future order of the court.

And the court doth order, that, on such security, being given, the said attachments stand discharged as an act of this day.

A Copy.

Teste,

P. Tinsley, c. c.

I do certify that Richard M. Scott has given the bond and security required by the above order. Certified this 30th day of March, 1810.
